Press Release

Access Display Group Makes Inc. 5000 for A Second Year

Freeport, New York., October 8, 2010

For the second year in a row, changeable signage display fixture leader Access Display Group, Inc. (ADG) has been ranked among the fastest growing private companies in America according to Inc. Magazine.

ADG, a designer and manufacturer of changeable poster displays, signage frames and other display fixture solutions for visual merchandising and visual display, earned the position of 3680 on the prestigious 2010 Inc. 5000, Inc. Magazine's annual ranking of the 5000 fastest-growing private companies in America. The company was ranked #7 among manufacturers in New York State.

Since its launch in 1992, ADG has been expanding its product lines and marketing reach through customer-oriented business practices and the adoption of new technologies like the "gravity lock," a discreet, gravity-based locking mechanism for its display cases for which the company was issued a patent in 2008.

ADG is now entering a new phase in its development with the launch of several new e-commerce sites. So far, this strategy is paying off, resulting in a 44 percent sales increase over the last three years.

"The business climate has never been more challenging and yet during the past several years by focusing on the new digital age of marketing online we found opportunities to continue a positive growth strategy," explains ADG president and founder Charles Abrams. "By expanding our website properties, offering online buying, implementing responsive customer service and adding a talented group of dedicated employees - all can be attributed to our success."

About the 2010 Inc. 5000

The 2010 Inc. 5000 is ranked according to percentage revenue growth when comparing 2006 to 2009. To qualify, companies must have been founded and generating revenue by June 30, 2006. Additionally, they had to be based in the United States, privately held, for profit, and independent—not subsidiaries or divisions of other companies—as of December 31, 2009.
